

YEAR IN REVIEW

JULY 01, 2017 - JUNE 30, 2018

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION for
OLMSTED
PARKS

Our mission is to advance Olmsted's principles and preserve irreplaceable parks and landscapes that revitalize communities and enrich people's lives.

Dear Friends, Colleagues, Partners and Supporters,

What an exciting year 2018 has been! We have accomplished much and have projects in the works that will expand NAOP's reach.

In April 2018, the NAOP Board held its annual meeting in Washington, DC and marked the centennial of the Olmsted Brothers management plan for the first urban national park, Rock Creek Park, which had been established in 1890. The Rock Creek Park Superintendent, Julia Washburn, and staff hosted an evening of lectures and presentations on the history and current plans for Rock Creek Park with our own Piera Weiss on the symposium agenda. That same weekend, we were hosted by the American Society of Landscape Architects at their Center for Landscape Architecture and we gathered a group of national leaders to test the idea of a nationwide "celebration" of the Olmsted legacy in 2022, the bicentennial of Frederick Law Olmsted's birth. We heard a resounding "Yes!" to the idea and as a result, held a second meeting in Brookline, MA, in September. Check out our website to see who came and what ideas are formulating around Olmsted 2022 – The Legacy.

We hope you enjoyed reading the Spring and Fall newsletters and we were very pleased with the three issues of our new e-mail bulletin which provides links to items of interest around the Olmsted community.

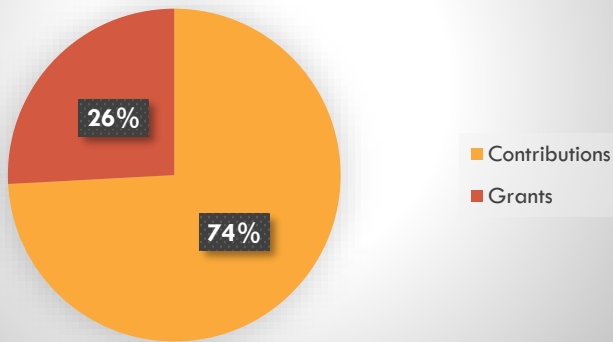

- The Olmsted Papers staff is completing the draft illustrated manuscript and anticipating publication in 2019.
- In 2018, NAOP's Digital Project with the Frederick Law Olmsted Historic Site has posted more than 5,000 images to the Olmsted FLICKR site.
- NAOP Advocacy efforts include weighing in on projects in Chicago, Buffalo, and Milwaukee and other cities – we lend our support or challenge efforts that threatens the Olmsted legacy.

NAOP is the only national voice dedicated to the Olmsted legacy. We are actively working to build an Olmsted network that connects enthusiasts, friends, and stewards from Seattle to Atlanta, from Maine to California to share opportunities, challenges, and best practices. Join us in these exciting endeavors.
